

Sun FECO Oil

Find your Balance, Naturally

Product Guide

What Is Sun FECO Oil?

Sun FECO Oil is a daytime-orientated full extract cannabis oil designed for people who want support with clarity, motivation, and functional day-to-day balance. Because it is a full extract product, it contains more than one cannabinoid, including THC and CBD.

Clean and predictable: no added compounds, flavours, or harsh ingredients.

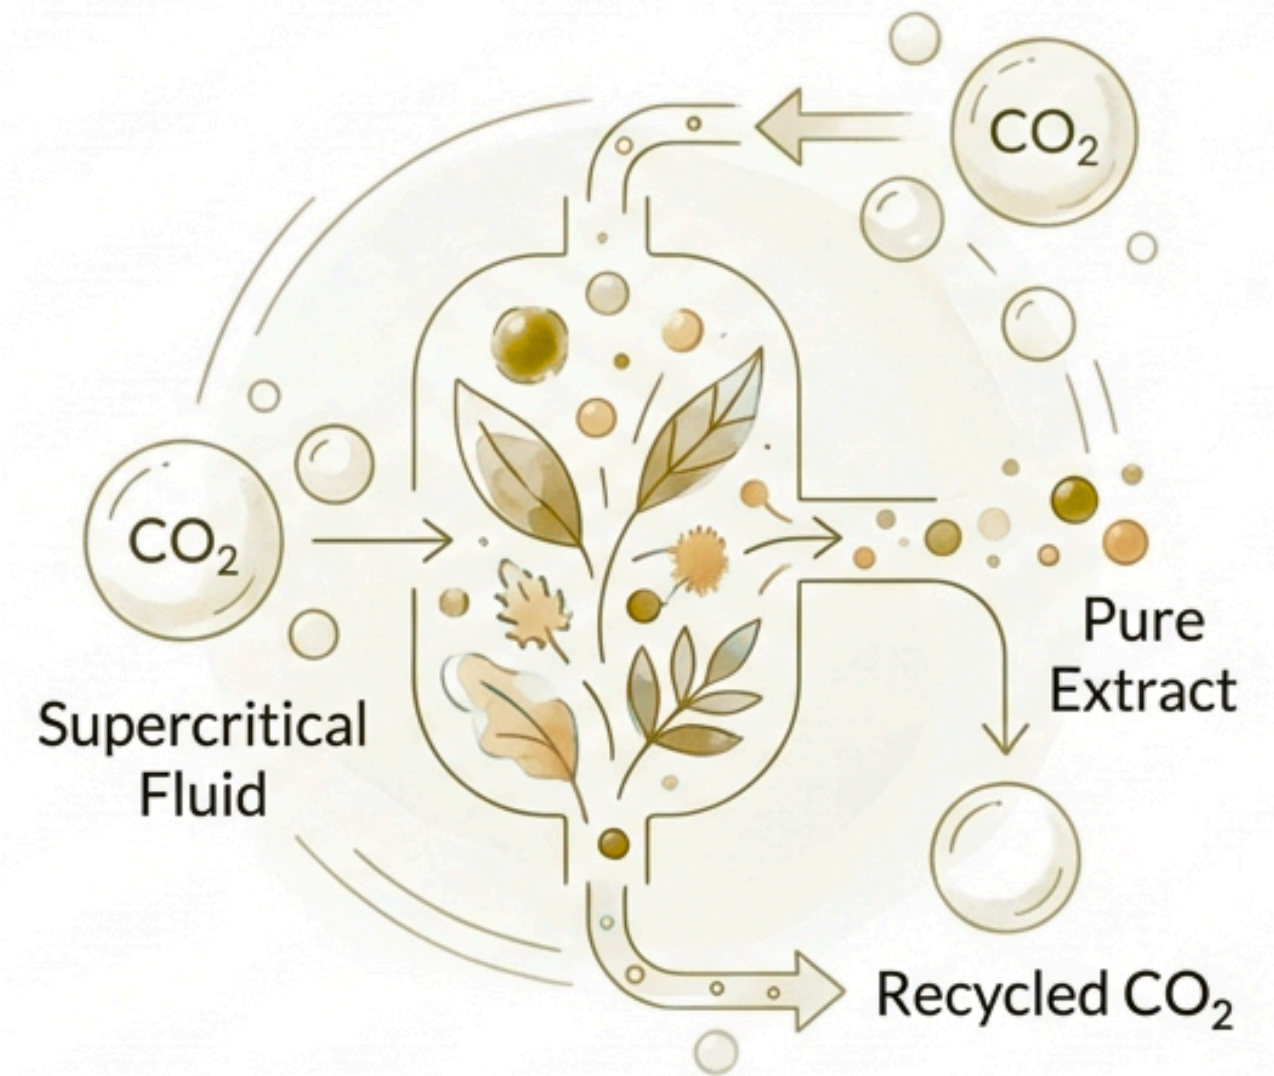

Who is it Best for:

- Adults needing daytime balance
- Mental load and productivity support
- Those needing calm focus without sedation

What Sets Our Extraction Method Apart

While traditional full-spectrum extracts often use controlled heat and agitation, we have chosen supercritical CO₂ extraction for its greater precision and control. This allows us to work at lower, carefully regulated temperatures, helping preserve delicate plant compounds and supporting a more refined and consistent full-spectrum profile.

This process allows careful control of pressure and temperature, helping preserve the natural cannabinoid and plant profile while reducing excessive chlorophyll, plant waxes, and heavier plant components that may affect flavour, clarity, and long-term stability.

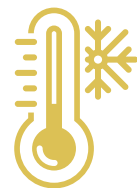

The Benefits of Supercritical CO₂ Extraction

Clean and refined

Supercritical CO₂ extraction uses carbon dioxide rather than harsh chemical solvents. This supports a cleaner, more controlled process and helps produce a highly purified full-spectrum extract.

Low-Temperature Protection

Gentle, controlled processing helps protect delicate cannabinoids and natural plant compounds, supporting a more complete and stable extract.

Consistency & Reliability

This controlled method allows greater batch-to-batch consistency, helping ensure predictable and steady support.

Sustainability and responsibility

CO₂ is recyclable and environmentally responsible, aligning with our commitment to conscious and holistic wellness.

Why Choose Sun

Sun is ideal for those who want support without switching off. It provides gentle daytime balance while allowing you to stay alert, engaged, and fully present in your day.

This FECO oil is typically chosen as part of a wellness routine to support:

- Focus, productivity, and mental clarity during the day
- Motivation and reduced daytime apathy or low drive
- Mood support and emotional lift (not positioned for anxiety support)
- Ongoing discomfort support (daytime-friendly)
- Digestive support, appetite balance, and craving control

Important: This is “may support” language. It is not positioned as a cure or a replacement for medical treatment.

How to use: Two Pathways to Absorption

Sublingual
(Under the Tongue)

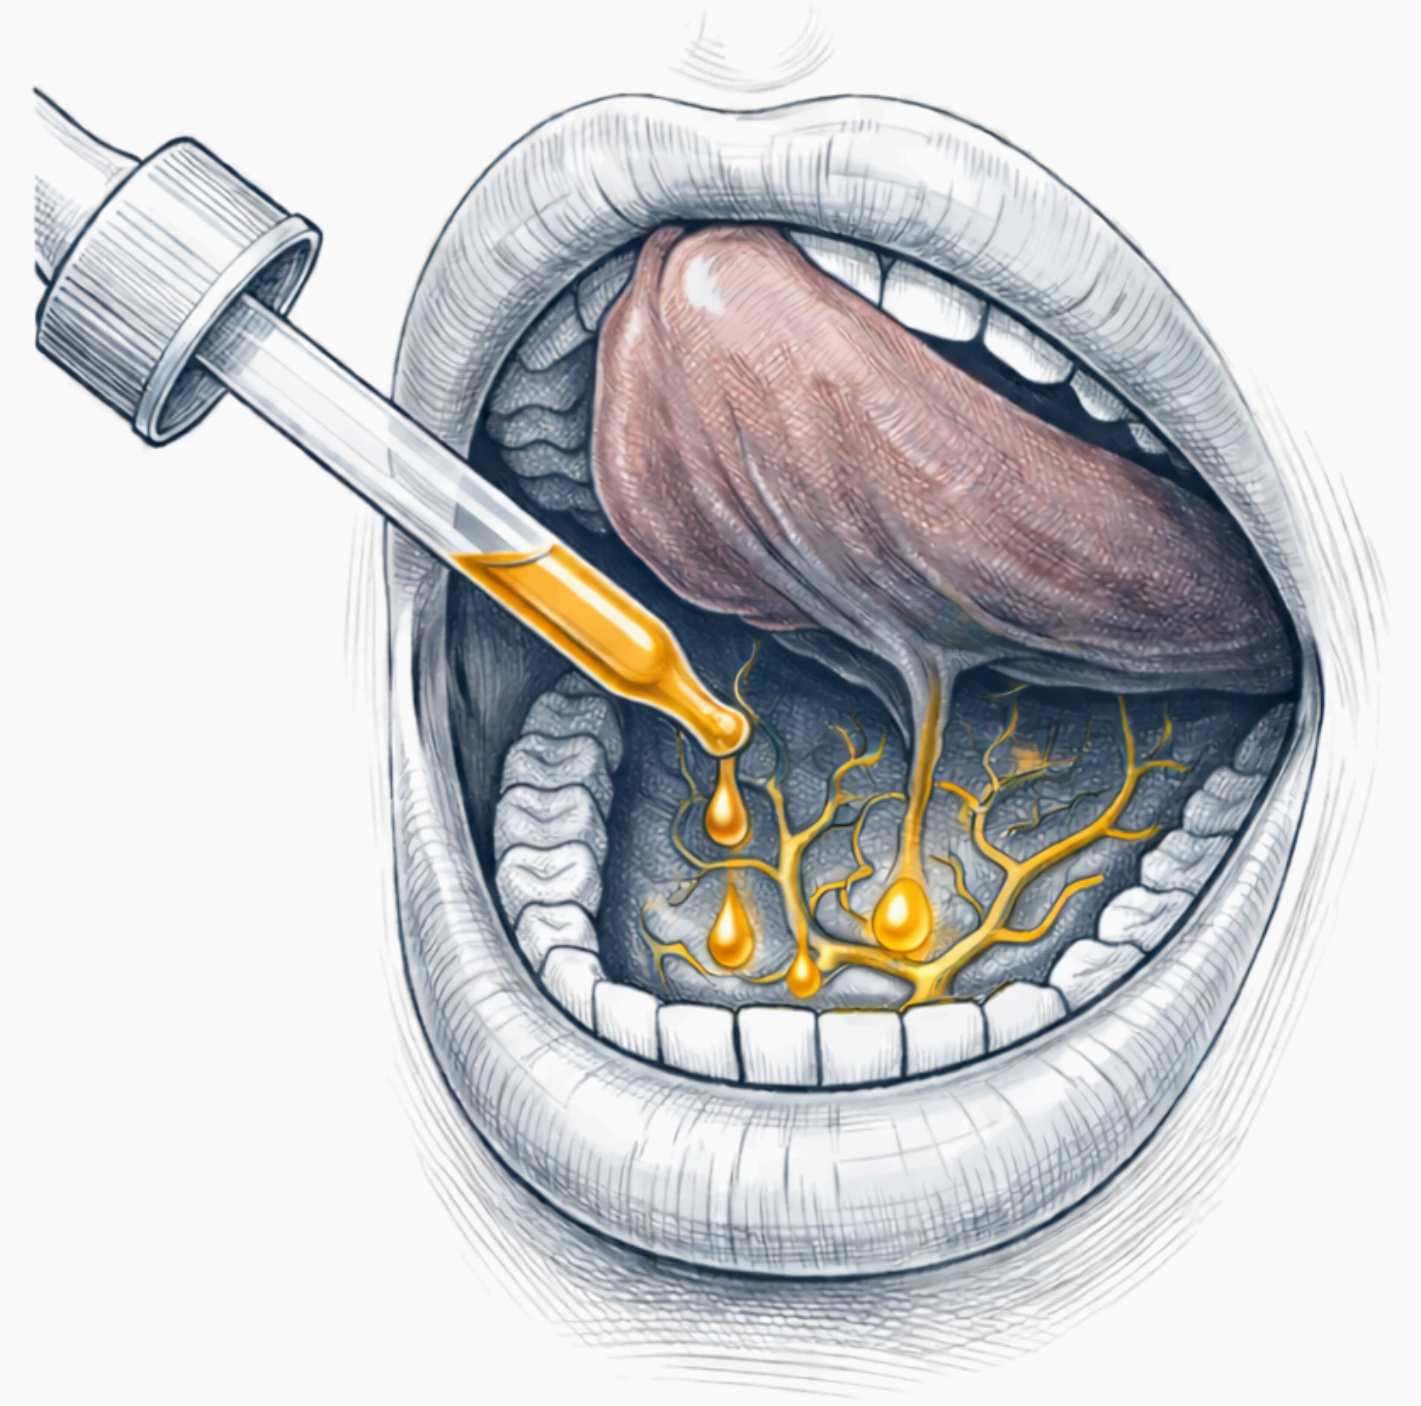

The Patchouli Method
(Navel Application)

Each person's body may respond differently to FECO. Body chemistry, sensitivity, lifestyle, stress levels, and consistency of use can all influence how it is experienced. As a result, effects may vary, and finding the most effective method and dosage may take time and gentle adjustment.

Sublingual (Under the Tongue)

1. Place
Administer drops directly under the tongue.
2. Hold
Keep the oil in place for at least 60 seconds.
Holding the oil under the tongue allows the plant compounds to be absorbed through the tissues in the mouth and enter the bloodstream directly.
3. Swallow
Ingest the remaining oil.

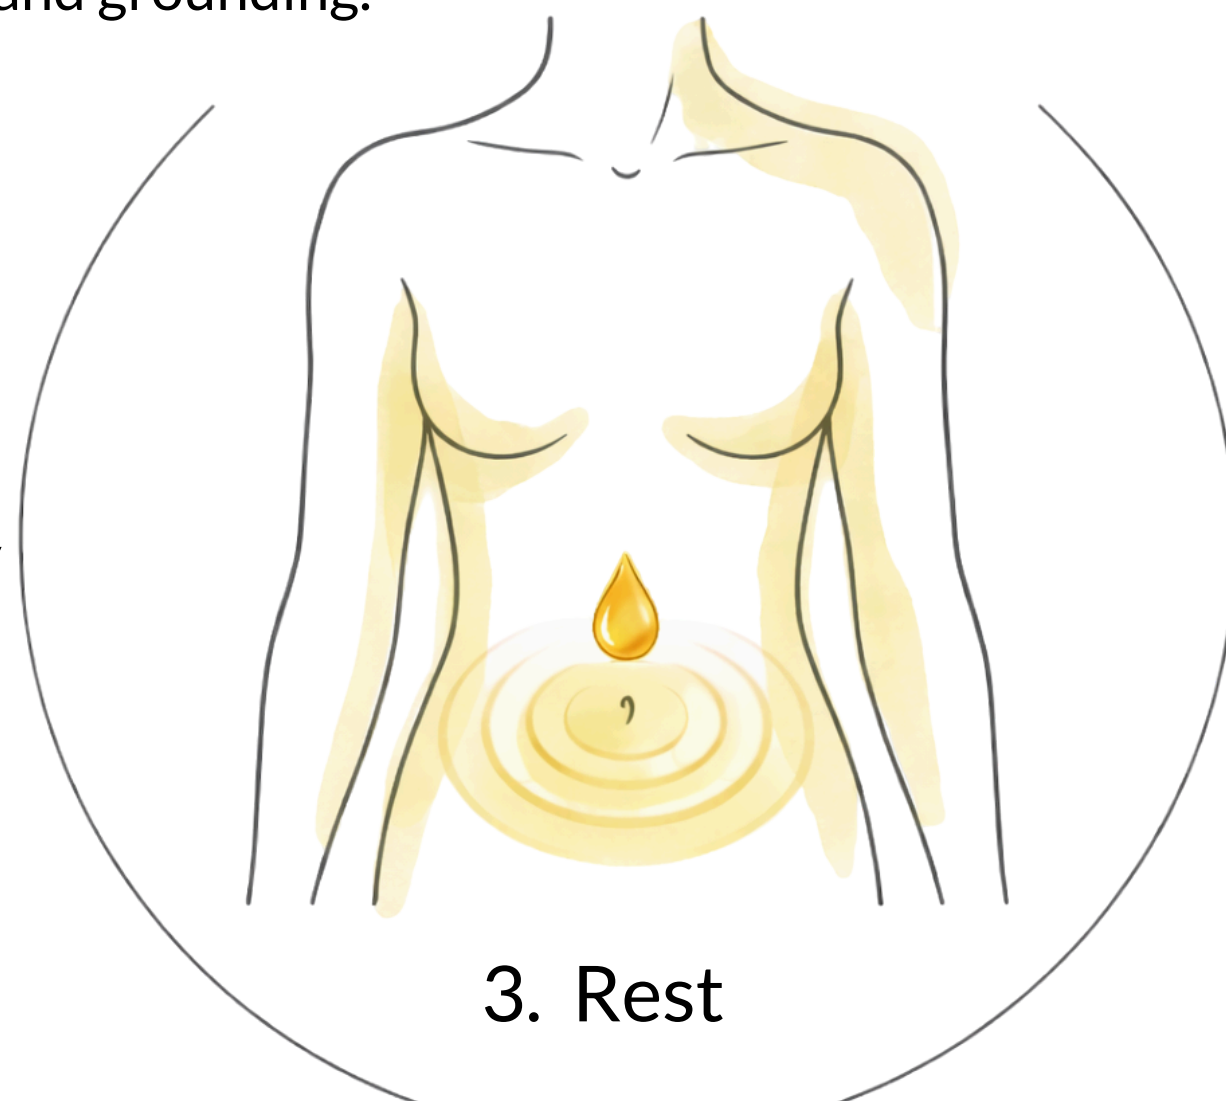

Alternative Option: Oral: Add to food or drink if preferred (absorption rates may vary).

The Patchouli Method

A traditional application method used in holistic wellness practices. The navel area is believed in many traditions to be a central point of energetic balance and grounding.

1. Apply
Place the dosage directly into the navel.

2. Massage
Gently massage the area to encourage absorption.

3. Rest
Allow the oil to absorb naturally into the skin.

Dosage

When to use: Morning or midday
Best used during active hours

FECO works best when used consistently. Some individuals notice subtle support within days, while others may need 2-4 weeks of daily use to experience full benefits. Effects are gentle and cumulative rather than immediate. This gradual process also helps build awareness of the body's needs and responses over time

Finding your Sweet Spot

Always observe how the body responds before making changes.

- If more support is needed, increase by 1-2 drops per dose and hold for another 7–14 days.
- Continue increasing by 1-2 drops per dose only when needed, holding each new dose for 7–14 days before changing again.
- Stop increasing once the benefit is consistent (your sweet spot).
- Optional split dosing: if mornings feel good but afternoons dip, split your daily amount into morning & afternoon and keep the same “hold for 7–14 days” rule.

If it feels like “too much”

- If you feel unusually fatigued, overstimulated, or uncomfortable, reduce by 1–2 drops per dose and allow the body to stabilise for 7–14 days before considering any further adjustments.

Individuals with medical conditions, or those using prescription medication, should consult a qualified healthcare professional before adjusting their dosage.
